further subterfuge was useless. J. C. Abreu and G. Pereira, the last kuzawa Kalyo was her name. They two to be arrested in the case, came give the Japanese women names just before U. S. Commissioner Judd this as they do in other lands. It seemed morning. Abreu was formerly a clerk she had watched Sato hoeing cane in with Rego in Koloa and Pereira is the the field and she fell in love with the former postmaster's brother-in-law:

It was Pereira, however, to whom the orders were payable and it was shown that he it was who came down from Koloa with the orders in his possession cashed them and passed the proceeds to the credit of Rego,

From these circumstances Commissioner Judd accepted the claim of District Attorney Breckons that probable causehad been shown and he bound over Pereira in $2500 to appear at the April term. Attorney Correa for the accused made an appeal on the line that Pereira had merely brought the orders down for Rego unwittingly as any person might have done, having no guilty knowledge of the transaction, but the will shortly be issued. It will be a Commissioner pointed that he had book of 1451 pages. The volume connothing to do with trying the accused, talus a preface by the Commission that the theory of reasonable doubt would have to be set up at the trial.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORIAL PARTY UNANIMOUSLY DECIDES NOT TO ACCEPT PRESIDENCY.

"There was a caucus of the Demo cratic senators this morning," said Senator Palmer Woods, who evidently wanted it to be known that the party was still alive "and it was unanimously decided that no senator of the party should accept the presidency of the chamber. It was acknowledged that in point of ability the Democratic delegation in the Senate could supply a president who would fill every demand but modesty has ever been the watchword of the party and the caucus therefore decided to refuse the nomination which will no doubt be tendered. The caucus passed off without a Wich and as far as I could see there was complete unanimity." For the benefit of those who live in far countries it may be explained that the point of Senator Woods' joke lies in the fact that he is the only Democrat in the Senate, the other fourteen members being of the Republican stripe.

THE JONES CASE.

The end of the cross-examination of C. K. Clark, an old acquaintance of E. M. Jones, took up the early part of the morning in Judge Robinson's court this morning. He followed the same line of testimony as to the idiosyncracies of the accused man in his early youth.

George Angus was next called, his evidence being as to the strange twitchings of the face to which Jones was subject, as well as to the curious manner in which the accused was in the habit of behaving.
